

“Coffee Express”

February 20, 2005 Update

Good morning. I got the box with the two packages of coffee you sent yesterday. According to the postage date it only took 8 days to get to us, pretty good, most mail has averaged 9 days. The bigger the package the longer it takes. I gave the packages to Captain Condon (Headquarters and Headquarters Company Commander) to put in the coffee shop this morning. A little later I'll see how they made out. It smelled great, even from the outside! Thanks again, I know the soldiers will really appreciate it. You'd be surprised how little things like flavored coffee break up the day and put them in a different frame of mind. It does get to be a little bit like ground hog day here for a lot of them.

Thanks again!
